Students' Society Constitution Proposed Amendments And Sub-Amendments

A Front-Page Editorial

It's Your Meeting—Come to It!

Compared in importance to today's meeting of the Students' Society, all other student activities on this campus are completely dwarfed. The constitution of the Students' Society which is to be amended today was drawn up at a time when McGill students numbered barely 2000. Today that number has been tripled, and it is therefore high time that the constitution be reconsidered and brought up to date.

The constitution is the very basis and backbone of all student activity on this campus. As it stands today, and as readers will be able to see for themselves on this page, it is a very well written document, giving in short concise articles all the definition and legal background a society such as ours may need. In spite of this fact, it is surely obvious that the constitution must be reconsidered and brought up to date. A number of amendments and sub-amendments have been submitted for today's meeting from the Students' Executive Council and from the student body at large. These amendments are all designed to give the constitution new strength so that in the future all student activities may be conducted with the utmost efficiency. The relative merits of the various amendments, particularly those dealing with the quorum of Students' Society meetings and representation on the Council will be adequately discussed, and all points of view will be given ample time and opportunity to be expressed.

These amendments however, and indeed any reconstruction of the constitution, will be entirely worthless if a mere hundred students turn out for the meeting. We feel sure, that without many exceptions, students throughout the campus would be furious and indignant, if one day every club on the campus was to be suspended, if all social functions were to be cancelled, if The Daily, the Forge and the Annual were not to appear. All these activities, and many more are under the direct jurisdiction of the Students' Society and through it the Students' Executive Council. In order to carry on the Council needs the opinions and reactions of its electors. The rules and regulations governing its conduct and the conduct of every organization and activity depend upon the Students' Society constitution.

For the sake of these activities and the right of McGill students to govern their own affairs, it is imperative that every student takes a great interest in today's meeting. SO TURN UP IN THE BALLROOM AT 5 P.M., READ THE CONSTITUTION AND AMENDMENTS PRINTED ON THIS PAGE AND GIVE YOUR OPINIONS WHENEVER YOU THINK IT NECESSARY. ABOVE ALL, DO NOT CATER TO ARBITRARY GOVERNMENT. COME TO THE MEETING AND BE PART OF THE MCGILL STUDENTS' SOCIETY!

Proposed Changes Will Affect Holding of General Meetings, Women's Voting, Council Setup

Reform Long Held Essential By Students' Executive Group

A meeting of the Students' Society of McGill University is scheduled to take place at 5 p.m. today in the Union Ballroom. The purpose of this general meeting, called by President Richard J. Balfour, is to consider a series of amendments and sub-amendments to the Society's constitution, a copy of which appears elsewhere on this page.

For over a year the Students' Executive Council has felt the need of bringing the Society constitution up to date, and for this purpose set up a constitutional committee last year, which prepared a report for consideration. Since then the council held several regular meetings and one special meeting devoted entirely to the reorganization of the constitution.

Initial amendments were thus drawn up and discussed with the University Senate's committee on the constitution. That body tentatively approved the Council-sponsored amendments. The amendments, along with the old constitution were published in The Daily two weeks ago when notice for the meeting was given publicly.

With the publication of the amendments several further amendments and sub-amendments were handed in to the Secretary of the Students' Society, and subsequently published in The Daily. These clauses, as well as the Council's suggestions will be considered at the meeting today.

Student interest has centered largely around the changing of the quorum and number of signatures required for a Students' Society meeting and the increase of the number of Students' Executive Council which today consists of twelve members, to include unrepresented faculties. A further amendment proposing the increase of the Managing Board of The Daily from three to six has also been put forward.

Time and Tide

Mystery at Twelve

This is true. We know, we were there. Matter of fact, we were the first to go up into the abandoned room at the top of the Hayloft. What can be more exciting, for a band of twelve-year-old schoolgirls, than an empty barn, on an island, off the (more or less) wild coast of Wales, and above the barn, the loft, and the room.

We stopped the others, and calmly, we examined the room from the doorway. Item: one bed, unmade, left in a hurry. Item: one teacup, turned over, with the tea inside mouldy. Item: one letter, rather, one page of a letter, lying on the dresser. Item: one cupboard with men's clothes, clothes, that I haste to add, we dared not touch.

Naturally, we were all embryo Sherlock Holmes; but, as long as we did not have Police Badges we dared not touch. Only guess... and wonder.

What was the man? Where had he gone? How long does it take for tea to go mouldy? We read the letter and there was something about money and about London, but try as we may, we could not read the writing. Baffled, we looked at the bed, at the tea, at the clothes. Outside was silence. Across the road lay the sea. The still air was soft, even though it happened in December. In the garden the Eucalyptus tree was green.

Every day we visited the magic room. After about ten days the teachers found out and told us to stop. We had not touched anything, but it worried the farmer to see all these girls in his barn every day. We left, and the tea, the bed, the letter remained in the silent room, by the sea, the mystery unsolved.

Then the artists come—
The painters, the poets,
The inspirers of man in all the media—
And claim their function is different.
Each one declares:
"Someone must do more than slide up the rest
And silently depart murmuring repeat,
'There's no foundation down the line.'
And yet all over, the declension,
Regular and exceptional, remains:
"Whose are the faces of green wreckage
And jaundiced patches where the pus has crept out
And grown its moss fungus over the dead?
Whose neck is lying here on the racks,
Headless, armless, legless, a riven torso
Like a stinking fish on a stake for the dead?
Whose life is pilloried here beneath the crucifixes
Of a Saragossa run wild, with its numbing tehtacles
As top masts and supporting pendulums for the dead?
And all acclaim
Their right to honour for these insights:
"Look at the children Whose creation says, "Godhead, Godhead, Godhead."
And before the child can ask and comprehend
What his godhead means, his world tells him
He cried, "Go there, Go there, Go there."
Down the onrushing life-wind of his suckling gasps;
And steers his first credo by the island of the dead
To familiarize him with the rubbish heap
Where first his mortal ideals
And then his frame will be cast.

"Do you see it—
The development of each growing pip?
Do you hear it—
The lisp of the chicle-lip?
That revolving udd—
Do you see it stretching
From tongue to tongue
With its kiss of fatigue
And its bloated bubble growing
In every face to burst
With all its venom splashing
Infection everywhere—
On the innocent, the guilty,
The indifferent—
Without precaution or security therefrom?

"Look now where the dying swans are spawning,
Too late to forsake a mockery
And carry on the progeny.
Daily the beautiful necks drop fallow,
And the shooting stars of yesteryear are forgotten
Leaving but their rotten dreg falling
Plop, plop, plop,
While love makes one another's hemorrhage no more.
—The quick flowing, the red waves into the pallid bag,
The wound that bleeds and cloys with each dis-
tended pulsing,
Sac limp down, vein livid up,
The sudden flood that surges with unknown vision—
Over all is thrown the robe,
And in time it grows as if it always did.
Its hands jutting out, wearing the wart cure earth
Compounded into mud come in jars
Packed by white liveried fingers;
Its neck bearing the pendant Replica of some past lover of the island of the dead,
To obscure and tarnish the life-giving flesh;
Its face throwing off its putrescent powder
With the odour of its breath as sweet consomme
To fertilize the leaven of eager gourmets,

"And there is the mother shark
Who trusts not her eggs to the ground
And the elements that warm all creation
But hugs them in her belly
And never relaxes her hold
Until they are like her
Beyond redemption
And will live off human life
Whenever possible.

From the Sea Shore
—Way up North

(This story was received off the C.U.P. wires from Winnipeg from a C.U.P. reporter covering musk-ox operations at Churchill.)

It doesn't take a university student to build an igloo. But it does take a universityman to tell you when conditions are favorable for comfortable igloo sleeping and that job is up to the meteorologist. Here at base headquarters of operation musk-ox in Churchill Manitoba scientific graduate class of 1943, now musk-ox moving force meteorological officer Gord McKay and your correspondent spent Friday night in a home made igloo just outside of this camp. McKay's forecast of wind chill a computation on the temperature and wind indicated that conditions could be favorable for bunking out despite the thermometer twenty-eight below reading. And he was right, for soon after digging ourselves in for the night it became evident that the sleeping bags used and which will be taken along on the thirty one hundred mile trek to Edmonton leaving February fourteenth provide ample warmth for men clad only in pajamas.

Igloos will be constructed on the exercise whenever weather conditions prevent the usage of tents. The meteorological department on the expedition is one of the most important yet least publicized services. The "met" as the weather office is known here, serves in the words of officer McKay two main purposes. "Firstly the moving force will rely on information released from the base and from stations at Yellowknife, Norman Wells and outposts en-route radioed twice daily besides accurate reports and weather maps dropped by the daily supply planes. Secondly it will aid the planes flying out to the expedition." The meteorological outfit will also obtain scientific data on the aurora and will test the quality density moisture content and types and numbers of layers of snow with accurate equipment designed especially for musk-ox and of which there are only two in existence in some cases. With these instruments we will be able to determine the best ground for the snowmobiles" Gord McKay continued.

"Other apparatus and methods will be employed but at present it is confidential for their characteristics are not yet completely known." In peace time the results of tests taken on this expedition will be of tremendous value. A great number of weather stations in Canada's far north will be able for instance to supply weather forecasts for Winnipeg days ahead. "You'll be able to plan that Sunday picnic on a previous Tuesday or if inclement weather is in the offing you would be prepared to arrange an evening of cards," said base meteorologist in charge W. C. Thurber, himself a science graduate of the university of Saskatchewan, class of 1932, "but you need trained university men. All of us here have attended universities prior to our meteorological training at the university of Toronto. There's Johnny Lauder of the university of Manitoba who took science with the class of 1937, and Wilf Stewart, who is the of Manitoba's 1940 science graduates. Both are of the opinion that "you have to attend university to get his job" Walt Fryers who obtained his B.Sc. at the U. of Manitoba in 1939 thinks that "science today should be stressed more than ever in the educational institutions of Canada." We cannot live without science today," he continued, that it is the logical thing for Canada to do develop the north in all possible ways. There are tremendous opportunities here in all fields. As for myself I would sincerely like to continue with meteorology at Toronto when we finish this job in May.

McKay and Manitoba's musk-ox meteorologists are thus setting the way for Canada's peace time weather stations, a link in the nations post-war prosperity.

"Co-eds in the near future may soon be seen sporting furless coats during the winter months". Such is the opinion of Bqms. George Stevens of Toronto of operation musk-ox. Although of course the idea is purely experimental. The men of musk-ox unlike the gold prospectors of the 1860's whose outfit consisted of fleece lined underwear corduroy pants, makinaw shirt, high boots, and a knee length coat, will carry on their trip through the Arctic everything from string vests to parka coats on which the only fur is on the hood.

Col. J. T. Wilson, deputy director of the exercise, is trying out one of the nylon parkas at the base. The coat which is made of a very durable material on the inside also has an inner liner which may be removed if the occupant feels too warm. "The development of this idea may save killing thousands of animals in the north" suggested Wilson in an interview Saturday, who continued that "it might even prove worthy for a large civilian market."

However, at present the musk-ox moving force will wear the parkas not designed in the nylon material but of another artificial furless composition.

Perhaps girls you should therefore wait until next winter for the new coat.

LETTER FORUM

AMENDMENTS

Editor, McGill Daily, Montreal.

Dear Sir, I wonder if the general student body at McGill is aware of the implications of some very impracticable amendments inspired by a certain political group. Amendment to the Constitution, Article 8, recommends in effect that the Student's Executive Council be bound constitutionally to summon itself three times a year, without a quorum, to be cross examined by any pressure group that desires to do so. This amendment, if adopted would in my opinion, be tantamount to placing a partisan noose around the neck, not only of the S.E.C., but of the Student's Society itself. Thus the Council would be under a permanent threat of strangulation. No Council could or would care to do business under such circumstances. This amendment if adopted could result in the end of representative student government at McGill. The real issue before the students who will vote on this amendment tomorrow, as I see it is this... whether they wish the Campus to be run by their elected representatives, of all faculties, or by any pressure group... if you like, a certain political group.

The suggestion that all meetings of the Student's Executive Council, be open to student observers (presumably any number, attending without invitation), is at least absurd. Ordinary meetings of the S.E.C., now last from four to six hours. Anyone who had ever been in the Board Room of the Union when a full meeting of the S.E.C. is in session, can imagine what it would be like if you had any twenty or thirty student 'observers' standing around during the session.

A further amendment suggests that a Student Society Meeting may be called at the written request of 50 students, and that 200 students shall constitute a quorum for such a meeting. This amendment if passed would be a boon for petition pushers at least. But could a motion passed by just over one hundred students be justly interpreted as representing the opinion of almost 6000?

On the other hand, the recommendation of 1500 signatures and 500 quorum seems rather high, and would make the calling of Society meetings most difficult. There should be a happy medium somewhere and to date the amendment of the Engineering Undergraduate Society Executive seems to be the best one. But 300 would probably be a more satisfactory quorum.

At any event today's meeting of the Student's Society is no doubt the most important meeting that has been called for a long time, and it is to be hoped that all students interested in future student government at McGill, will be present.

Yours truly,
DON BRUSHETT.

ASC FORMAL

To the Editor, McGill Daily,
Dear Sir—Last Friday, Feb. 1st, the ASC Formal was held. This dance was supposed to be self-sustaining, as was written in the Daily, and confirmed by the Executive a few weeks ago.

From Reliable Source. I have learned that the affair was $800.00 in arrears after all expenses were accounted for. Now, who pays for this $1.00 is received by the Arts and Science Faculty Treasury for every student in the Arts and Science Faculty, this money comes from the student fee. The Treasury has in the bank, at least $1,000.00 before this pecuniary endeavour.

I am a Science student and I did not go to the Dance. Why should my dollar and the dollar of many other students who did not attend, have to pay for it.

It seems to me ridiculous that our faculty should start a precedent of bringing American bands to McGill. There are several good Canadian Bands which would not cost 1-5 of the $1,700,000 that was paid to B. S. Chester. (Who is Chester anyway?)
When does the Arts and Science Faculty Executive plan to give an accounting of their financial adventure in the world of speculation?
An Interested Science Student.

POLITICAL CLUBS

The Editor-in-Chief,
The McGill Daily.

Dear Mr. Editor: We wish to endorse the statements of D. G. Simons in his letter in Tuesday's issue.

Political clubs have an important place on the campus, but they should not use other clubs and organizations and certainly not the Student Society as a means of spreading their party propaganda.

Is not this the same group who have been circulating a billion dollar housing petition for publicity purposes? Do they not know it is materials, not money, that we use to build houses with in Canada? The shortage of houses is due to the shortage of building supplies—not ready cash.

At his suggestion we studied the sub-amendments and see that they also call for enlarging the Students' Council, reducing the number of signatures needed for nomination to ten, and throwing council meetings open to student observers, all of which are of doubtful value.

We certainly feel that all students should be present at this General Meeting in the Ballroom on Thursday.

Yours truly,
R. C. PATERSON.
ANDRE LAMONTAGNE

To the Editor.
Open letter to the Students Society:

Since the appearance of the amendments to the Constitution, a great number of sub-amendments and counter amendments have been published in The Daily. A knowledge of the personality of the proposers and of the campus politics involved is an interesting background to study the implications of these proposals. Some of the suggestions are merely a clarification of terms; several of these, however, have a deliberate pur-

Varsity Blues Tangle With McGill Friday In Cage Contest

Redmen Strike Warpath As Toronto Pale Faces Invade Campus Teepee

Coach Dilworth Brings Strong Quintette for Intercollegiate Tilt

The McGill Senior Cage Squad resumes the intercollegiate hoop wars this Friday night when the Toronto Varsity Blues invade the Redmen's stamping ground for the first time since 1939. What with the Currie Teepee being pretty well swamped by Western last week, our team needs a win to keep their collective heads out of the water. Lou Davies et al will be doing their damndest to polish up those rusty tomahawks.

Of course, Varsity looks for no scalp. Smoke signals hot off the fire make the Redmen wary of making free with the predictions. Varsity boasts a win over Western (ever heard of Western?), and in their first League game downed Queens. Of even more significance is their 57-50 win over Assumption College of Windsor, the team that Easterners everywhere are booming as this year's Canadian champs.

CENTRE MAN HEAP BIG
Although Coach Roy Dilworth is spending his first year masterminding an intercollegiate team, he's bringing seven lettermen along just to cite an outstanding example, even our Mart Goodwin will have his hands full looking after centreman Don Gibson, a mere 6' 6½" tall and playing his fifth year, no less, with the Blues.

Harry Mayzel, first-string forward, will be another man to watch. He led the Toronto City League in scoring in '43-44 and averaged 20 points a game in high school. Wally Zeaton, at 31 the "old man" of the team, is reputed to have scored 67 points himself in a Winnipeg game. And just to put the topper to it all, forward Murray Thomson learned his basketball in China, all of which adds up to a mighty powerful, experienced, and unpredictable bunch of pale faces.

The Redmen should be a hotter team than last week. If Sammy Roth and Dave Greenberg have a little more luck with their shooting, and if the whole team dresses up in a little more war paint than Western saw last week, we should see a good, close game.

The Tom-Toms began to beat at 8.30. See you there, and don't forget to bring your war whoop.

Coed Ski House Is Partially Filled

Some Vacancies Left For Week-end Skiing At St Adele en Haut

As most coeds know, R.V.C. owns a ski house in St. Adele. This weekend there are still several vacancies so this is an opportunity for those who have failed to make their reservations early. Although the weather at present is far from encouraging, the weather man has promised more favourable conditions for the weekend.

If you have never been up to the ski house you have missed a great experience. It is a wonderful opportunity to meet new friends in an informal atmosphere.

The coeds do their own cooking and from all accounts, the grub is good! After all you never know whether you can cook until you've tried. What better way to find out than to experiment on your unsuspecting college friends?

If you have never been persuaded to cast your lot with the coeds in the R.V.C. ski house, please see the secretary in the Phys Ed office in R.V.C. The weekend fee is $1.50 per person which must be paid when seeing the secretary. No reservations will be taken after 5.00 p.m. today. So please see about this as soon as possible.

WOMEN VETERANS

All women veterans are cordially invited to attend a meeting of the Edith Cavell Branch 93 of the Canadian Legion on Friday, February 8 at 8.15 p.m. in Room 219 of the Windsor Hotel.

Intercollegiate Boxing Tourney Draws Near

With the approach of the intercollegiate boxing competition in the next two weeks, McGill's club is turning out en masse for the tri-weekly practices on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The fact that the team has not yet been announced by coach Irving Phillips is an encouragement to the boxers, for there is still plenty of time to make the team if they show up well in these practices.

The interfaculty competition is going to be run off in the very near future, and from this tournament Phillips intends to pick out the team which will represent McGill at Kingston on February 22 and 23. At present the boys are rapidly rounding into shape and Phillips will have quite a time trying to pick out the best men in each weight class for the team.

Squash Players Represent McGill In Boston Meet

Landry, Culver Only Canadians Competing Against U.S. Champs

This weekend the McGill Squash Club is sending a two-man team down to M.I.T., where they plan to enter the American Intercollegiate Squash Championships currently being held in Boston. Thus the Redmen are setting something of a precedent, as this will mark the first time a Canadian University has competed in the American Singles College Tournament.

Pete Landry and Dave Culver, seeded Nos. 1 and 2 respectively on the campus courts, have been selected to represent McGill this Friday and Saturday. Pete Landry is no stranger to American competition, as he played on the 15-man Canadian team in the American Amateur Squash Tourney recently held in Boston. Pete was narrowly defeated by the States No. 10 player.

His running-mate, Dave Culver, is an excellent all-round competitive player and is sure to provide stiff opposition to the Americans. This week he assured himself of a place in the Campus Club "Big Four" when he advanced into the semi-final round of the club tournament.

McGILL'S CHANGES

These coming championship games in Boston will provide a good opportunity of observing just where McGill stands in the squash world. Twelve universities are members of the American Intercollegiate Squash Association, McGill being the sole Canadian representative. Pete Landry admits the competition will be pretty tough, but expects he and Dave will be able to give a good account of themselves.

In the only quarter-final game played yesterday, Pete Landry defeated Al Nowers in straight games, 15-12, 15-11, 15-10. Andy Lemesurier plays Gillespie in the other game of the bracket this morning. Semi-finals are to be run off at 5.30 p.m. Monday.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CLUB

Mr. Gratton O'Leary, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal, will speak at an open meeting of the Progressive Conservative Club, which is being held in the Union Ballroom at 5 o'clock next Monday the 11th of February.

Mr. O'Leary will discuss the recent Dominion Provincial Conference, with special reference to the provincial proposals.

All students are cordially invited to attend on this occasion. This is one of a series of meetings bringing special speakers to the University so that students may be kept informed of national developments.

Weather Cancels Intermediate Tilt At Dawson Rink

League-Leading Squad From St. Johns Ready For McGill Pucksters

The game between Dawson and McGill intermediate pucksters which was scheduled to take place last night was cancelled. A driving rain and a fifty mile an hour gale hit Dawson thus making an outside game unfeasible, so that the game has been postponed until further notice.

At the present time, Dawson stands at the top of the league with three wins under their collective belts. Their latest gain being a win over Macdonald College last Monday. The score was 8-2 in favour of the boys from "Dawson Creek". This game against McGill was to have been a real test as the Redmen have been bolstered up by ex-senior team players.

Coach Henry has been drilling the squad regularly. His forward line boasts of such stars as Hayward, Somers, Knubley and McCarroll who have been the main scorers of the Dawson team.

Target Trifles

By Trigger

By TRIGGER

At the general meeting held two weeks ago, it was decided that a limited number of new members would be admitted to the club. All those who are interested in joining are again asked to come up to the range on either of the two regular practice nights, viz. Tues. & Thurs.

A committee of three was elected to look after arrangements for the annual club dance to be held in March. The committee members are: Di McIntyre, Dean Ladd and Stan Candlish. Any suggestions re the dance will be welcomed.

It is hoped that there will be a better turn out at practices in future, and that the Range Officers remember their responsibilities.

In the recent competitions, we completely trimmed the Maple Leaf Rifle Club, taking the maximum of four points from them; took three points from the Montreal Tramway Garage and three from the Tramways C.P.C.

Again we wish to urge more girls to join the Club and turn out for practices. We're still very much outnumbered, girls, so make a genuine effort to get up to the range and show the boys what we can do.

RED & WHITE REVUE

There will be a directors' meeting today, Thursday, at 1 p.m. in the ballroom.

Interfaculty Tilts Cancelled Because Of Bad Weather

Intramural Leagues Functioning Smoothly Throughout Schedule

All Interfaculty Hockey games scheduled to be played at the McTavish Rinks yesterday were unfortunately postponed due to the inclement weather. The interfaculty loop has been running very smoothly to date under the capable supervision of Scotty Grant, and this is the first bit of opposition it has had to date from the weather-man.

There was an inter-class tilt scheduled for the same afternoon, and it was also cancelled. This league, although occasionally hampered by teams which do not show up, has been in a very healthy condition throughout the season.

One draw-back that the intramural leagues have been facing all season is the lack of equipment. Although more organized outfits, like the amateur and professional teams, are able to pull equipment out of the proverbial hat McGill has been unable to do this, so far as these leagues are concerned.

Worst of all is the condition of the goalers pads, which is remarkable in its imperfection and inability to offer much protection to the poor unfortunate who is talked into donning the pads for his team.

Hockey sticks, for the first time in history, have become almost impossible to beg, borrow or steal. There just aren't any. Skates of any decent calibre at all have been off the market for three or four years at least, and many of the interfaculty players are forced to wobble around on blades which their fathers wore before them.

MOC Plans Ski Tours on Sunday

Anticipation of Change In Weather Is Reason Of Optimistic Skiers

On going to press, the weather conditions could scarcely be described as perfect for skiing, but after all, this is February, and in Montreal anything can happen so as with the weather is concerned. As a consequence, the M.O.C. are planning their usual long and short tours for this weekend, and with a cold snap (we hope) before then the trails will provide plenty of interest. Here is the schedule.

Long Tour: Ste. Agathe to Ste. Marguerite . . . via the Gillespie. This is about 14 miles long. It traverses some wide open country east of the C.P.R. line and should provide some swell runs.

Short Tour: A trail around Shawbridge, heading north visiting some neighbourhood lakes and then to Three Creeks, returning along the M.O.C. trail over the lookout and back to the House for a real meal.

For those who have not been reading these announcements lately it would be well to remember to bring your own lunches and be sure to make the C.P.R. train from Park Avenue on time as it still leaves at 8.15 a.m. Sunday morning, and that is early. The O.C. houses still have a few vacancies so don't forget to sign up early in the gym for the boys and at R.V.C. for the girls. To all those that want their smart M.O.C. badges, get them from Daphne Berkinkshaw at R.V.C., and Viv Cullen in Eng. 4 The Athletic Office has some more in too. Please Mr. Weatherman!!!!

McGill Hoopsters Defeated U of M After Hard Fight

Final Score 46-30, As Redmen Took Lead During Tough Battle

By TONY BLACKWOOD

The McGill Intermediate basketball team wound up its regular series in the Currie Gymnasium last night with a game against University of Montreal.

The final score read 46-30 for coach Ronnie Rutherford's boys, and the game was fiercely contested throughout. Paced by Beaugrand and Allan, the Redmen were never seriously menaced, and after permitting the Flying Frenchmen to garner the first basket, they moved into a lead which was never relinquished.

The game got off to a rather slow start, which showed some ragged shooting on the part of both teams, but the boys soon warmed up and from then on the play was much faster. Cliff Melville, former pro and playing coach of the University of Montreal, was out with his charges for most of the game, and with his smooth passing and excellent all round play did much to spark the rest of the team to a good fight.

A little way through the half big Bill Allan began to really click, and sank nine points in quick succession. He was ably backed up by Beaugrand whose two-way game was one of the highlights of the tilt.

At the end of the first half, the score read 21-16 for McGill, but our boys weren't content to remain five points ahead. They soon moved out further in front, and at this juncture, MacKenzie sank a couple of pretty baskets.

Play became a little ragged once again after this as the boys from over the Mountain made a desperate attempt to even the score, but the McGill defence held, and the efforts of the opposition were quite easily held at bay. This was practically the last excitement of the game, for soon after the whistle blew leaving McGill the victors by the score of 46-30.

The whole tilt was marked by good refereeing, the outstanding work of Allan, Beaugrand, Davine and MacKenzie and, for the U. of M. the smooth style of Melville who was a pleasure to watch in action.

TONY BLACKWOOD.

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE

There will be a meeting of the Societe Francaise on Tuesday, February 12 at 5 p.m. in the RVC Common Room. Dr. Simonet will be the guest speaker and his topic will be Daily Life In France. All students are welcome, and it is hoped that the turnout will be as large as at the previous meetings. For the benefit of new students, these "reunions" are pleasant, informal meetings where French is spoken, and speakers are invited to talk on various subjects of current interest to all students.

Champagne Victorious In Table Tennis Match

Eddie Champagne, who from the start was labelled as the man to beat in the local ping-pong tournament, yesterday proved to all and sundry that he doesn't intend to be beaten by anyone. In a grueling one-hour match he took the measure of Dapper Dan Climan and thus entered the finals.

The match was a thriller from beginning to end, but Champagne had a little too much on the ball for Climan, who up till then had been the real dark horse of the tourney. The final score was 21-16, 21-19, 21-17, 21-18.

The other two semi-finalists, Sunny "champ" Lee and Winston "The Voice" Mahabir, are at present in the midst of examinations and will play off early next week; the winner will meet Champagne for the table tennis championship of McGill University.

SAMMY ROTH, who played a stellar game for the Redmen in their game against Georgians last night.

Dawson to Face Georgians Tonight In Hoop Contest

"B" Team May Oppose Baron Byng Quintet As Added Attraction

The Dawson Intermediate "A" basketball team steps on to the floor tonight to face their determined rivals from Sir George Williams College in a game which is being replayed, since the original was contested by the Georgians after one of the Dawson players scored just as the final whistle rang out to halt the game. This game was played two weeks ago, and since the result was in doubt, the Dawsonites agreed to play it over again.

The Georgian "aggregation" is coached by Steve Armstrong, who has, since the break-off for the Christmas holidays, completely reorganized the team. Starring for this outfit are the two Taylor brothers and Ephraim Copping, who lead their team to victory over the McGill Intermediate squad recently.

SLUMP OVERCOME

The team coached by Gerry Leonard showed real form last week when it downed the doughy Macdonald aggregation from Ste. Anne de Bellevue by a 44-24 count, thereby recovering from a slump into which they had fallen some two weeks ago, due, they claim, to over-confidence.

Lee Cousineau, one of the leading scorers for the Dawsonites, has recovered his shooting eye after having poor luck under the basket for several weeks. Together with Kaszas, Duford and Eastwood, Cousineau provides a potent threat on Dawson's line-up.

IMPORTANT

The game is a very important one, for both teams. If Dawson win they will be in sole possession of the league leadership, while a victory will clinch a place in the playoffs for the Georgian quintet. Dawson have only a few more games left to play to complete their portion of the schedule, and since this game is a four-pointer, it will be of especial importance.

Another of Steve Armstrong's teams, the Baron Byng senior squad might possibly accompany the Georgians to oppose the Dawson Intermediate "B" quintet. Baron Byng are in the lead for the City High School Basketball championship. The Dawson team has already defeated these high school boys, but only by a 24-23 count. It was their first game against outside competition and they lacked experience. After playing through a rather heavy season, the boys from St. Johns now feel confident that they will take this game with little trouble.

Redmen Beat Georgians To Tie with Y.M.H.A. For Leadership of MBL

Finlay and Roth Lead McGill In 31-23 Win in Ragged Game

By JOE GREENSPAN

Every team has its on and its off days, and McGill's senior basketball squad used up its quota of the latter variety in the game last night, which saw the Redmen drag a 31-23 win from the even more ragged Georgian quintet to put them in a first place tie with Y.M.H.A. in the M.B.L. In the first tilt of the double-header, Shipmates pulled a 46-36 victory from Southwestern Y.

Finlay showed up best for the Red and White in a nice two-way manner, garnering 10 points, followed closely by Sam Roth who played well offensively, and in spite of missing some in-the-bag baskets, earned his 9 tallies. Greenberg, although only sinking one basket and one free throw, set up most of the plays for his mates, especially in the first half. For the Georgians, it was tricky little Al Flynn with 9 points, mostly a long shot.

McGILL STARTS FAST

It was lanky, befreckled Ron Bowers who started the scoring with a quick basket right off the opening tootle. Finlay soon made the lights read 5-0 by sinking a free throw and following with a swishing long shot. And McGill looked as though they were off to a landslide victory as their opponents couldn't even dent their zone defence.

Robertson corded the swishage first for the Georgians, but by a long shot, his squad not even being able to get near the netting. Meanwhile Greenberg was setting them up for Finlay and Roth, the first stanza ending up with the Redmen ahead, 18-10.

The second half was a complete flop for both teams. Neither squad could get through the other's defence cordon, although this much can be said, they tried hard to hold on to the ball long enough to at least get a crack at the basket.

TIME FLIES

Flynn made the first tally by a lovely long shot from the side, and then Woods pushed his way through to score a clean one from under the peaches. Meanwhile 5 minutes passed, 7 minutes, 10 minutes—McGill was getting through once in

C.I.C.

There will be an open meeting of the McGill student Chapter of the Chemical Institute of Canada this afternoon at 5 p.m. The meeting will take place in the main lecture theatre of the Chemistry Building.

The speaker will be Dr. R. K. Stratford, Head of the Research Dept. Imperial Oil, Sarnia, Ont., and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the C.I.C. Dr. Stratford graduated in agriculture from Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario. He obtained his Ph.D. in France at the University of Lyons. He has done much important work such as the development of the super-suspension catalyst for the cracking of petroleum. Through such work he has gained an international reputation.

The subject of his address will be "Modern Developments in the Petroleum Industry." All students interested are cordially invited.

LIBERAL CLUB

The McGill Liberal Club will meet on Friday at 1 p.m. in the music room of the McGill Union to discuss Canadian foreign policy.

The Publicity Committee will meet today at 1 p.m. in the Music Room.

Elimination For Debates McGill Versus Brooklyn Are To Be Held Today

Both Debates to Be Held Feb. 21; Debating Union Announces Judges

Eliminations for the debates between McGill University and Brooklyn College taking place Thursday, Feb. 21, are to be held today at 8.30 p.m. in the Music Room of the Conservatorium. Two McGill teams, one in New York, and the other at home, will debate both sides of the topic "Resolved that we are winning the peace."

The judges have been announced for the debate to be held in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. on Feb. 21. They are Miss Joyce Hemlo, of the English Department, Mr. Don Leggett, former departmental commissioner for the Red Cross overseas, and now Ottawa press correspondent for the Montreal Daily Star, and Mr. Stan Kenton, staff announcer at CBC, writer and producer.

At Brooklyn College the debate is scheduled for noon hour of the same day—Feb. 21. "This will give the McGill representatives Thursday night and the remainder of the weekend to see New York," stated the president of the McGill Debating Union. "Word has been received that entertainment has been planned for the speakers." A tour of Montreal is part of the program that has been arranged for the team visiting McGill.

This is the first debate to be held between Brooklyn and McGill. The Debating Union also announced that a debate with Harvard will take place later in the term. Word from Harvard concerning this is expected shortly.

The executive of the Debating Union feel that the exchange of ideas between Canadian and American university students cannot fail to be of great value and interest. It is hoped by then that McGill students will support fully these international debates.

rogative of the SEC; after all, twelve members or more can delay action quite effectively.

EUS Amendment (Eng. Undergrad, Soc.) that three members be elected from the faculties to join the present Managing Board. The present over-abundance of publicity plugs for Plumbers Bells and Brawls and ACS Formals and Banquets would pale in comparison with the advertising of future issues.

The lack of constructive leadership on a sustained basis, as manifested in the Editorial columns, is seen in the sporadic call-to-arms that greets the readers' eyes once in a blue moon when the Editor suddenly responds to the urge to express liberal views over and above the clamor of the SEC and other interested parties.

The Editor should have complete control and responsibility of Daily policy; the SEC would contribute in an advisory capacity, no more; the Editor would be selected by the staff of the previous year, and be directly responsible to the quorum of Student's Society meetings.

The Editor of a campus newspaper should be a free individual, not the instrument of the SEC or any other organizing group on the campus (EUS, et al., please take note) except the Students' Society. The Daily's role is to stimulate thought, not repress it; there are no advertisers' interests to be safeguarded!

Limitations of space prevent further discussion on the remaining proposals; their purpose is manifest 'Keep students out of the ballroom and the Students' Executive Council's hair.'

C. N. BEAUCHAMP.

He managed to wring out a first and last page, but at that point words failed him—so to speak. What to do? After carefully investigating the problem from every angle, he finally wrote three pages of "ands," inserted them between the first and last pages, and casually handed the essay in. ## Dr. P. Dunsheath To Give Address

Lecture to Engineers In Chem. Amphitheatre At 4 p.m. Today

Dr. P. Dunsheath, C.B.E. president of the British Institute of Electrical Engineers, will today address the Engineering students of McGill and of Ecole Polytechnique. The talk subject is the contribution of the Electrical Engineers toward the Allied war-effort, and it will be presented in the Chemistry lecture Amphitheatre at 4 p.m.

As one of Britain's foremost research engineers, Dr. Dunsheath is in the position to throw considerable light on the shrouded and often underrated efforts of the men who were the basis and foundation of many brilliant war-machined triumphs, that now may well be converted to peaceful purposes. However, as president and general manager of the W. T. Henley Telegraph Works, London England, the speaker will also present many highlights of the management to engineer relationship, and how best the student and young graduate can help himself on the rocky road up.

The Engineering Institute of Canada, who have invited Dr. Dunsheath to speak to the engineers of McGill and to their own assembly, is at present formulating the machinery to aid the student and the young graduate engineer both in the academic the professional career. However, that this venture prove successful, the students wholehearted cooperation is essential, and the E.U.S. urges all students to crystallize their opinion problems and feasible solution. One opportunity achieving this is to attend the presentation "A Message to Engineering Students" by Dr. P. Dunsheath.

All engineering lectures and labs are cancelled at 4 p.m. today.
